

Taylor & Francis
Taylor & Francis Group

Licence Agreement

Please complete the following information:

Contact Name:

Student Name:

University/Institution:

Book Title:

Author/Editor:

ISBN:

Year of Publication:

Licence/course start date:

Licence/course expiry date:

Format requested:

PDF

RTF/Word

XML

Authorised Signature:

Print Name:

(All of the above fields are mandatory. Alternative format cannot be supplied without this information)

Re: Provision of electronic files for the title detailed above.

The electronic files for the above book (hereinafter termed the Original Files) are being provided in order for you to make the Work available to the student named above (hereinafter termed the Student) who is visually (or physically) impaired, or has learning difficulties, registered at the institution named above (hereinafter termed the Institution) in a suitable alternative electronic format (hereinafter termed Alternative Format). This Alternative Format must have the express purpose of enabling said Student to have access to a work which would not otherwise be accessible to them. Permission to use the Work named above is subject to the following conditions:

You MAY

Store the Original Files on a computer or electronic device belonging to the Institution, for the purposes of converting the file into an Alternative Format, and making this Alternative Format accessible to the visually impaired Student named above.

The Student MAY

Store the Alternative Format on his/her own computer or electronic device, for personal use. Access the Alternative Format on a computer or electronic device belonging to the Institution for personal use, strictly within a secure password-protected Intranet limiting access to the Student only.

Print or download the contents of the Alternative Format or elements of it, for personal use.

The Alternative Format or the Original Files MAY NOT be used for any other purpose, including:

To download, copy, print, or make available via any method, including use of the world wide web, the Original Files, the Alternative Format or any material contained within either file, for distribution to third parties - even for non-commercial purposes.

Use of either the Original Files or the Alternative Format file for any commercial purpose.
Making available the Original Files to anyone other than those that need access to them in order to carry out the conversion to the Alternative Format.

In addition, the following conditions apply:

No alteration may be made to the material without our permission, except as required for conversion to the Alternative Format. Delivery and use must be in a format that retains the integrity of the text.

An acknowledgement is made to the material as follows: “[author/editor], [title], [year of publication], [publisher - as it appears on our copyright page] reproduced with permission of Taylor & Francis” prominently on the introductory screen of the Alternative Format.

This agreement is valid for the term agreed above. At the end of this period, all copies of the Original Files held by the institution or student should be destroyed, unless you have a specific requirement which means you need to retain them, in which case our further written consent should be obtained. Any Alternative Format created from the Original Files may be retained by the student in perpetuity.

This Agreement is subject to the purchase of a print edition of the work and is not valid until proof of purchase is supplied to us.

Please note that whilst the author retains copyright in the Work, Taylor & Francis has the exclusive publishing rights in the Work, and also has copyright in the design, layout and typography. As such, we are entitled to take legal action should illegitimate copies of the work be distributed by yourself or any third party, or should you be found otherwise in breach of our rights.

Any queries relating to this licence agreement should be directed to the Academic VIP Request team [AcademicVIPRequests@informa.com]